

Vince Gonzales
Professor of Professional Practice
Associate Dean of Student Affairs
Associate Director for Journalism Graduate Programs
USC Annenberg School for Communication and Journalism

Vince Gonzales, Professor of Professional Practice, is the Coordinator, Master's Programs, School of Journalism. He is also a freelance correspondent/producer for "SoCal Connected" on KCET here in Los Angeles. Prior to that he was a CNN freelance correspondent and, from 1998 to 2007, was a CBS News national correspondent (focusing on Investigative Stories) based in L.A. Gonzales has also worked as a TV news reporter in the Denver, Phoenix, and Dallas markets. He is a graduate of the State University of New York at Brockport (with bachelor's degrees in political science and communications/journalism) and he received a master's degree from the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. Gonzales also studied at the Graduate School of International and Public Affairs at Columbia.

Awards: three National News Emmys, two Local News Emmys, three Columbia University-Alfred I. duPont awards, four RTNA Golden Mikes, the L.A. Press Club's Best Investigative Reporting award, the L.A. Press Club's Best Documentary (TV) award, and honors from Investigative Reporters and Editors, the Society for Professional Journalists, the Associated Press, and The National Headliner Awards. Named "2005 Broadcast Journalist of the Year" by the National Association of Hispanic Journalists.